“ Tony was the love of my life. It was instant attraction when we met. Just like meeting an old friend you hadn't seen in awhile. He was the most brave, beautiful, and honorable man I have ever met and I was fortunate to be able to spend so long with him. He was kind and tried so hard to be funny but never quite accomplished that. He was a hard worker and loved history. As we travelled Europe the 3 years I was there, he always had stories to tell about the historical places we visited. He was full of knowledge that he was willing to share with anyone who asked. It is like half of me is gone and I miss him so much.
