“ Ashley, I know how close you and Becki were. You became her rock and were always the pride of her life. No matter how tough things were she always kept you first in her thoughts, concerns, prayers, and wishes. All the babies and all the little ones who grew up around her were her source of joy. I am so sorry to hear of her departure, and equally important, your personal loss - but I know her soul is finally at rest in a better world. She was a good Mom and grandma. She got that from Grandma Ruth. If things get a little rough for you, turn to her and consider how she would handle it. I'll be praying for you, her and the family. Love, Vic

“ I know you don't remember way back in the day. Your mom was so fun full of life, smart pretty could always find a way to make things better. I am sure she continued that spirit long after I moved away. Didn't get to reconnect when I moved back but she has always been a smile when I think of her. I hope the lord will give you and your family some peace. I know the last few years have been rough for you. I will keep the candle glowing. Pat Britt
