July 22, 1944 - August 4, 2024

He was a proud husband of Maria Teresa Flores, and father of, Deborah Flores who lives in Los Angeles, California and Ivan Flores who passed tragically at the age of 28 in Bastrop, Texas.

He was born in Laredo, Texas in 1944 to very hardworking immigrant parents, Florencia Benavides and Agapito Flores. Agapito Jr. joined the military during the Vietnam war and later used the GI bill to attend college for a few years. His main interest was Latin American archeology and he would travel with his family to Mexico and Central America studying the ruins of different ancient civilizations. He was also good with construction as he was taught by his father, and would later start his own trucking company working hard to help support his family.

Agapito was a devoted and loving husband and father to his family who dearly miss him and the life lessons he imparted to them. Among them was the love for travel and learning about different cultures and learning to take risks, going beyond your comfort zone.

He took great pride in being a parent, he made sure that we all learned to swim and made it very enjoyable, having a sailboat to ride in. Deborah went one step further and even learned to scuba dive.

Agapito was preceded in death by his siblings Alfredo Flores, Feliberto Flores, and Consuelo Liendo, and his son Ivan Flores. He is survived by his wife, Maria Teresa Flores, his daughter Deborah Flores and by siblings Santiago Flores, Manuela Flores, Ruben Flores and Jose Flores, two grandchildren, and many nephews and nieces.
