Christopher William Schoenemann

May 9, 1973 – August 15, 2017

Christopher William Schoenemann, beloved Son, Brother, Uncle and dad of two dogs, Lizze and Southern Belle, passed away August 15, 2017.

Chris, aged 44, was a native Austinite and he loved his hometown.

He loved sparring with members of the JJ Machado Austin Jiu Jitsu Academy, owned by Todd White. Chris didn't care how many aches and pains he had after class, he just purely loved every bruise.

Chris had recently completed the National Academy of Sports Medicine course for personal fitness training and was excited for a career as a personal trainer.

He loved to create mouth-watering meals and share his creations with his friends and family.

He had a wonderful sense of humor that he would share frequently with his family and friends, some of these friends he has known since child hood.

Since he did not have children, his dogs were his kids. He would send pictures of Lizzie and Belle to everyone, quite often. He was very proud of his “girls”.

He was preceded in death by his father William “Bill” Schoenemann. He is survived by his mother Carolyn L. Schoenemann, sister Tricia Schoenemann, brother-in-law Christopher Bolton, and nieces Luna and Stella Bolton.

A remembrance and interment of cremains will be held for Christopher at the family plot in St. Johns Lutheran Cemetery in San Antonio Texas on September 30, 2017 at 1:00 pm. In lieu of flowers donations can be made in his name to Friends of Austin Animal Center or the animal rescue of your choice.
