“ Frank and I got together when I was 17 years old. He was my first love and we shared a life together for close to 15 years. One of the greatest legacy's of Frank's life was his children. He created to beautiful, smart, talented, and very empathetic (now) young adults ; who somehow have received the best attributes of Franks personality and character. Frank and I had many years filled with fun and laughter and great memories. Although, our relationship did not last , our love and friendship was always present. I am grateful that his pain is over as it was ongoing for such a long time but I am heartbroken that he suffered as he did and that he is no longer in this world. We were partners in crime and always managed to check in with each other and always knew that we would be there for one another as true friends are. He will be missed. His passing has hit me so much harder than I had expected. His children will now have to come to terms with the loss as well and I think they also have been struggling with the impact of his loss as well. Frank had a good heart and once he let go of all of the demons that had such a tight grasp on him, that heart shined through and the Frank I have always know emerged. He wanted so badly to ask for for forgiveness from those that he had hurt, before he passed but it all just came on so fast there just wasn't an opportunity. May his soul rest in peace and he be reunited with those he loved who have passed on before him.❤️
