His greatest gift to this world was that he was a GIVER. He tided monthly to his church, First United Methodist Church, to Mt Calvary Baptist Church, Jewish, Holiness churches, and also made contributions to TV faiths, and to many other causes and organizations. Garland had an apartment full of Bible Study notes from participating with all faiths and denominations. One of his favorite hobbies was being the family Chef. He prepared huge holiday meals that he shared with family, friends and neighbors. His father, Rupert Van Broadnax, and mother, Sammie Mae Dairy-Pendergraph Broadnax and brother Larry Donnell Pendergraph preceded him in death.
