

Rawleigh Terrell Reagan

May 2, 1942 - February 18, 2025

A memorial service will be held on Saturday, March 29, 2025 11:00 am at Christ Episcopal Church 300 N. Main Street Temple, Tx 76501 (in lieu of flowers, take your family out for fried chicken or chicken fried steak and chocolate cake and chocolate shakes)

Born to Royce Jennings and Ruby Pauline Reagan in Charleston, South Carolina, Terrell spent his youth in Waco, Texas, where he attended Waco High. He went on to study Mathematics and Physics at Abilene Christian and Baylor University before receiving his Architectural Engineering degree from the University of Texas at Austin in 1966. Gifted with a brilliant mind and a love of learning, matched by a quick wit and a daring temperament, Terrell lived a life of adventures – told and untold – filling many roles along the way. He was a son, brother, uncle, godfather, husband, father, “BeBop” to his grandchildren, actor, author, movie producer/director, Oil man, International Banker, Sunday school teacher, former Sunday school teacher, real estate mogul, lawyer - did we say actor, unorthodox fisherman, athlete, fierce friend and avid storyteller. His laughter was a common thread in almost every conversation and that boisterous laugh will be missed. We look forward to hearing the new stories when we meet again and hear that joyful laugh once more.
